

Second-chance puppies

On a hot Cyprus September afternoon, six hungry and thirsty puppies were found abandoned in a cardboard box by the side of a dusty track. Two puppies found happy new homes here in Cyprus to start their second-chance lives, but four are still looking for their forever families. These two boys and two girls are completely un-spoiled, enjoy meeting new people and dogs, are used to being tormented by our many household cats, and are happy to be alive! They are up to date on vaccinations, are microchipped and will be neutered in February. All transportation costs to their new homes will be met. They can travel abroad from mid-April.
